MEDICATED STEAM BATHS AT 209 THIRD STREET.

SAN JOSE.

SAN JOSE has been well termed the Garden City of California. Its situation in the heart of Santa Clara Valley, one of the most richly favored and healthful localities on the Coast, gives it incalculable natural advantages. In its beauty, fertility, and salubrity, it almost realizes the dream of a modern Utopia. The man or woman who would not be happy in such a place, and amid such surroundings, would be dissatisfied under the most brilliant conditions. The greater portion of the soil of San Jose and the Santa Clara Valley is a rich, black, sandless loam, which yields from twenty-five to thirty bushels of wheat to the acre. Many fields have been planted with grain for ten successive years without manuring. Some of the land when it is new yields over sixty bushels to the acre. The wheat raised in the eastern portion of the valley, where the soil is somewhat gravelly, sells for the highest price in the San Francisco market, and makes the finest flour. Along the Los Gatos Creek, in that section of country known as the Willows, there is a tract of rich bottom-land admirably adapted to the cultivation of hops. About the town of Santa Clara the soil is lighter and has more sand. The hill and mountain land is retained principally for grazing purposes, for the reason that it is beyond the range of the ocean fogs; the grass is green and the pasturage good; during the summer months every year large numbers of stock are driven from some of the southern and interior counties to the fresh pasturage of these hills. So valuable are some of these lands for this purpose that their owners hold them at higher rates than the grain lands of the valley. The high lands abutting the valley on the west are admirably adapted to the cultivation of the grape, to which large tracts have been applied. The fame of the wine and table grapes of San Jose and the valley of Santa Clara has extended even to Europe, and every year an increase of this industry is noted. The soil of these hills is a dark brown, sandy loam, not unlike that of some portions of the valley. The common California grape, which does not ripen in other localities until September, ripens here in July and August. The highest ridges of the mountains are in many places densely wooded, and afford a supply of good lumber and fuel. The slopes around the edge of the valley are covered with wild oats and native grasses, and give excellent pasturage for large herds of cattle. There are very few cattle raised in the vicinity of San Jose, the land being so generally under cultivation with grain and fruit. From San Jose to Gilroy, a distance of thirty miles, the valley, in the early summer, forms an almost unbroken wheat and barley field. In May, June, and July, when the grain is ripening, the view of this section is a marvel of beauty.

The original white settlers of San Jose were composed of a sort of trinity—agricultural, pastoral, and religious. The mission of Santa Clara was founded in 1777, and San Jose was selected as a home by many of the settlers on account of its unrivaled situation. The population increased slowly but surely under the Spanish and Mexican regimes; but when the discovery of gold was made, San Jose speedily became a place of importance. On the 25th of December, 1849, the first legislature of the State met in San Jose, in an adobe structure erected that year by Messrs. Sansevain and Rochon, on the east side of Market Street, between San Fernando and San Antonio Streets. It was sixty feet long, forty feet wide, two stories high, and adorned with a piazza in front. It was destroyed by fire on the 29th of April, 1853. In 1849-50 the population of San Jose, like that of the State, was a mosaic work, formed from pieces of humanity picked from every nation of the globe, and they stood in bold contrast one with another. The first newspaper established and printed in San Jose was the State Journal, a semi-weekly, edited by James B. Devoe, and issued on the 19th day of December, 1850. On the 4th of January following the Daily Argus was first published. Both discontinued their circulation the following spring. On the 15th of February, 1851, the legislature passed an act removing the capital from San Jose. The first permanent journal was the San Jose Weekly Visitor, the first number of which was printed June 21st, 1851, and the last June 4th, 1852. It was at first an advocate of the Whig party, but in October became Democratic. In 1857 San Jose was incorporated as a city. The population was then about 3,000. Now (1882) it has a population of about 13,000 in the city proper, and 18,000 including East and West San Jose, which to all intents and purposes are a part of San Jose. In 1865 the city got out of debt, and has remained so ever since. It justly lays claim to being the educational center of California, for no city in the State can compare with it in the matter of educational facilities. The public schools and colleges of the city and vicinity are: Santa Clara Street, cost $22,000; First Ward, cost $20,000; Empire Street, cost $18,000; Reed Street, cost $16,000; Fourth Ward, cost $18,000; Santa Clara school, cost 14,000; the State Normal school building, located here, cost $150,000; the College of Notre Dame, for young ladies, cost $500,000; Santa Clara College cost over $500,000; the University of Pacific, a Methodist institution, located midway between Santa Clara and San Jose, cost $60,000. Other and costly buildings are contemplated by its trustees. Besides these there are first-class private schools and seminaries, among which are the San Jose Institute, the Young Ladies' Athenæum, the Home Seminary, a College of Elocution and Oratory, and the Garden City Commercial College.

Among the county buildings is the County Infirmary, which ranks first among the institutions of the kind in the State. It is situated three and one-half miles south-west of the city, and was erected in 1875, at a cost of $20,000. It is provided with every convenience, and the accommodations are ample for one hundred and twenty patients. J. B. Church is the superintendent. The County Court-house is the finest in the State outside of San Francisco, and was erected in 1866, at a cost approximating $200,000. It is of Roman Corinthian style of architecture, with a facade one hundred feet wide and eighty feet high. The structure is surmounted by a dome, whence an uninterrupted view of the city and valley may be had. The county jail, which adjoins the court-house at the rear, cost some $80,000. There are fifteen churches, including Congregational, Baptist, United Presbyterian, Cumberland Presbyterian, First Presbyterian, Hebrew, Catholic, Methodist (North, and South, and German), Friends, and Unity. In the city there are four banks, the Bank of San Jose, Commercial and Savings Bank, Farmers' Union, and First National Bank; half a dozen first-class and finely appointed hotels; and a paid fire department, and three volunteer organizations, the whole with a force of one hundred and fifty men. There are five newspapers in the city, the Times, Mercury, Record, Herald, and Pioneer. All but the latter are daily. The Mercury is Republican, the Herald Democratic, and the Times independent. There are five Masonic lodges, one Red Men's, five Odd Fellows, one Chosen Friends, one Legion of Honor, two Ancient Order of United Workmen, two Grand Army of the Republic Posts, two Good Templars' lodges, one Sons of Temperance, two Red Cross, one Turn Verein, one Ode H. S., a free public library, besides musical, social, benevolent, protective, and literary associations. The assessed valuation of the property in the city is some $10,000,000. The public buildings are a pride to the place, and large sums of money have been spent in their erection. There is one theater, the California, Dr. H. H. Douner is proprietor. There is also Music hall, Turn Verein hall, Germania hall, Druid's hall, Washington hall, Granger hall, and City Market hall, the latter being the most spacious in the city. The Free Public Library contains about 6,000 volumes. A law library is also in existence and flourishing. There are two large markets, Central and City market, replete with every convenience. There are three lines of railways, the Southern Pacific, Central Pacific and South Pacific Coast. All are finely equipped and well managed. Six mails are dispatched daily, and seven are received.

The water supply of the city is derived from the Santa Cruz Mountains, and is pure and abundant. Besides this, there are numerous artesian wells about the city. One of the chief features of San Jose is the Lick Observatory, located on the summit of Mt. Hamilton. The buildings are nearly completed, and the telescopic apparatus will be placed in position inside of three years. The sum appropriated for the erection and maintenance of this great work is $700,000. San Jose's prospects are not alone dependent upon the the prolific soil of Santa Clara Valley. Three other valleys, smaller but equally rich, render tribute to us. On the south-east is San Felipe Valley, beyond it, that of Las Animas, and on the north-east is Calaveras Valley, all of which are susceptible of highest cultivation and improvement. Grapes, apples, prunes, peaches, apricots, plums, pears, cherries, in fact, all kinds of fruit, barley, rye, wheat, corn, and other cereals abound. Hundreds of acres of strawberries alone are annually raised, and the highlands will be ultimately covered with vineyards. Hops and tobacco yield good returns. Mulberry trees thrive well, and silk culture is a probable contingency at no late day. During the past few years some attention has been given to the breeding of fine cattle, which have carried off many of the best prizes at State and other fairs. A specialty has been made of the Angora goat, where fleece is shipped to Eastern markets. Thirteen miles distant is located the immensely valuable New Almaden quicksilver mines, and ten miles distant is the Guadalupe mine. Manufacturing industries receive a fair share of attention. The advantages of San Jose as a manufacturing location are unsurpassed, and of late more interest has been given to the matter of encouraging manufacturing industries than formerly. There are four fruit-canning factories in San Jose and vicinity, four foundries and machine shops, four breweries, two planing and molding mills, a furniture factory, a boot and shoe factory, one woolen mill, which cost $150,000, two distilleries, seven carriage factories, three glove factories, a starch factory, three candy factories, a tannery, two box factories, a coal-gas works, four cigar factories, a coffee and spice mill, seven grist mills, a pottery, four brick-yards, and general stores too numerous to mention. While San Jose is remarkably healthful, measures are being taken to render it even more so. A system of sewerage is well on the way to completion which will make San Jose the best favored city in this respect in the State. The total cost will approximate $200,000.

RAILROADS.

The first of Santa Clara County was the San Francisco and San Jose Railroad, which is now known as the SAVIDAN'S LIVERY STABLE, 212 SANTA CLARA STREET.

Northern Division of the Southern Pacific.

The Northern Division of the S. P. R. R. is composed of the following lines: San Francisco to Soledad, 143 miles; the branch line between Gilroy and Tres Pinos, 20 miles; the branch line between Castroville and Monterey, 15 miles. The Northern Division of the S. P. is finely equipped and managed, and traverses one of the most picturesque of California's lovely sections. The country as it spreads out from the highway, clothed in its dress of verdure, and fringed by the Santa Cruz or Coast Range, with beautiful residences dotting the plains and breaking the monotony which their absence might offer, is delightfully charming. This road is an indispensable convenience to the residents of the famed Santa Clara Valley, whose remarkable yields of berries, fruits, vegetables, and grain are transported by this line to the "City of the Bay." Of this road Santa Clara County has 59.<sup>30</sup>/<sub>100</sub> miles. The portion so far as San Jose was completed and open for traffic as early as January 16th, 1864; from San Jose to Gilroy, March 13th, 1869; Gilroy to county line, July 31st, 1871; Carnadero to county line, November 27th, 1871. In addition to the lines named, this company is operating, under lease, the Santa Cruz Railroad, (narrow-gauge) between Pajaro and Santa Cruz, 21½ miles in length. It is the intention of the company shortly to change the Santa Cruz road to a standard-gauge road.

The Central Pacific.

A branch of the "grand line" runs into San Jose, over which an accommodation train is dispatched both ways, daily, connecting with the "overland," via Niles, Livermore, and Stockton. This short line passes through a valuable portion of Santa Clara and Alameda Counties, and is another important route to the Garden City.

The South Pacific Coast Railroad.

Passes through San Jose on its way from San Francisco to Santa Cruz. Although it is a narrow-gauge road, the rails are of heavy T-pattern, and the cars are wide and commodious. The road-bed, bridges, and buildings are all of the most permanent character. Great praise is due to the company for this enterprise. They have surmounted many difficulties at an enormous cost in making a route through the formidable Santa Cruz mountains, which have seemed to defy railroad construction heretofore. No fewer than seven tunnels, bored through rock sometimes as hard as adamant, and aggregating three and a quarter miles in length, were found necessary in the last twenty miles. The indefatigable projectors are to be congratulated on the success of their enterprise, for it is, with a few exceptions, the greatest work of the kind in America. The scenery along the route, from bay to bay, is a series of agreeable and picturesque surprises, and the solidity of its construction insures safety, speed, and comfort to travelers. The equipment is first class in every respect, and the road-bed is smooth and free from dust. A delightful ride of a few hours, and the train passes through a region of rare attractions to invalids and others who can appreciate magnificent scenery, and a climate and soil adapted to the growth of “The orange, the lemon, and pale-tinted lime,

The fig and the olive, and clustering vine,” and nearly all other desirable fruits. A region where the air is fragrant with the powdered resin of the gigantic pines and redwoods, and so pure and soft and in a great measure supersede all other methods. The beautiful and graceful structure that adorns the intersection of Santa Clara and Market Streets is a witness of the advance of science in this direction. The larger cities of the State look upon San Jose, not with envious eyes, but saying to themselves, "Why did not we conceive this thing first?" It is beyond question the coming light; and to those communities, great or small, that shall adopt it, the merit of introduction need in nowise be lessened because it first dawned upon our modest little town.

STREET AND AVENUE GUIDE.

San Jose is regularly laid out, streets generally crossing each other at right angles, and running nearly east and west, or north and south. The numbering begins on the north and west limits of the city, and reaches 300 at the crossing of Santa Clara and First streets. Hence eastwardly and southwardly the numbers extend to the east and south city limits.

For each number a definite space is allowed. To locate the proper number upon any given lot, the following will answer as a guide: Take Second street as an index of all streets running from north to south; from Rosa street to Julian street allow 25 numbers to each block, or 2 numbers to each 50-vara lot, except the last in the block, which will have 3. The last lot is first on the east, the second on the west side, and alternates with each successive block. From Julian street to Santa Clara street, and from San Fernando to Reed street. 50 numbers to each block, or 3 numbers to each 25 varas, except the south one-half of the last two lots, which will have 4 numbers. From Santa Clara street to San Fernando street 100 numbers to the block, or 13.84 feet to each number. From Reed street to the southern city limits 25 numbers to each block, or 3 numbers to each 50 varas, except the last, which will have 4, and alternate, as north of Julian street. In the numbering from west to east, with San Fernando street as an index, we have 27½ feet to each number from Walnut street to Vine street and Fourth street to the eastern city limits. From Vine to San Pedro street 22½ feet to each number; from San Pedro to Market street 15⅓ feet; from Market to First street 13¾ feet; and from First to Fourth street 13.84 feet to each number. The surveys, outside of the original survey, are so irregular that they appear to have no system. Where the streets of outside surveys are not parallel with the "index" streets given, the number of feet allotted to each number will be greater or less, as the lines which include the numbers are at angles with the index streets.

LOCATED MIDWAY BETWEEN

SAN JOSE AND SANTA CLARA, CAL.

And accessible by Street Cars from both Cities.

There are Five Regular Courses of Study, viz: 1. The Classical Course—Four years. 2. The Latin Scientific Course—Three years. 3. The Scientific Course—Three years. 4. The Conservatory of Music Course—Four years. 5. The Commercial Course—One year.

The Conservatory of Music is designed to furnish the best facilities for acquiring a complete and thorough musical education.

A Preparatory Department is connected with the School, for the benefit of such as are not qualified to enter the College classes.

The Commercial Department affords ample facilities for acquiring a thorough business education. It is remote from the temptations of a great city, and the course can be pursued in connection with the other branches of the College. In this way the expense is trifling compared with that of institutions devoted exclusively to business training.

Weekly Lectures will be delivered before the entire School, by gentlemen selected for their attainments in Letters, Law, Medicine, Theology and the different Sciences.

The Young Ladies' Boarding Hall, under the supervision of the Preceptress and an experienced Matron, offers a safe and pleasant home for young ladies from abroad. This Institution was founded in 1851, and in 1852 was incorporated with the privileges of a University. It occupies six large buildings, with extensive shady play-grounds; covered gymnasiums, swimming pond, etc. It possesses a most complete Philosophical Apparatus, and valuable collections of Mineralogy and Geology. It has, also, practical schools of Assaying, Surveying, Telegraphy, Photography and Commercial Business. For the latter a new building 186x40 has just been finished, that leaves nothing to be desired. Diplomas are given in two departments—the Classical and Scientific—and Certificates in the Commercial course.

THE GARDEN CITY COMMERCIAL COLLEGE

Is the only institution south of San Francisco that is thoroughly equipped, first class, and devoted exclusively to Business Education.

The only Business Training School that receives from its Managers and Instructors their first care, best energies, and deepest interest.

The only institution of its kind whose teachers have been fully educated for their work, both in the schools, and by practice.

The only one that brings its pupils face to face with business affairs and transactions, as living, active occurrences, rather than as theoretical abstractions.

The only one that does not stand under the shadow of a paramount interest, thus becoming a mere side show.

The only Business College in the county whose Managers give evidence of any faith as an education, in what they offer the public, either in policy or in price.

WHAT WE AFFIRM.

That no person should attempt to teach business studies, whose theories have not been vitalized by experience—who has not been so related to business that his figures meant coin, and his policy profit or loss.

That no person has the moral right to subordinate so important a part of education, and still claim that he is doing "first class work."

That no person whose qualification consists simply in having studied the "text-books," has any right to attempt to teach business studies.

That no school which devotes but one or two recitation hours daily to business branches, can thoroughly educate pupils therein in less than four years.

That the difference between a school which teaches "bookkeeping," and one which teaches business, is fully half a diameter.

What Eminent Men Say.

Teach your boys those things that will give them a start in life in some useful business industry, where they can "Earn their own Living" and make their way to wealth and distinction.—H. G. EASTMAN, LL. D., Principal of the National Business College, Poughkeepsie, N. Y.

I know there are to-day one thousand college graduates who are walking the stony streets of New York, and know not how to make a living. I believe the Business Colleges of our time are destined to rectify this mistake.—HORACE GREELEY, at Cooper Institute, N. Y., November 11, 1867.

A well arranged course of study in a Business College gives a mental discipline which, for the time devoted to its studies, is not exceeded by any course of study embraced in the curricula of the schools of the country.—HON. IRA MAYHEW, LL. D. of Detroit, for eight years Superintendent of Public Instruction of the State of Michigan.

SAN JOSE has become an educational centre. Among its facilities is reckoned the Garden City Commercial College, one of the four or five Business Colleges on this Coast.

The Principal understands his business, and has experienced assistants. He first prepared therefor, by study, and was for ten years after a practical accountant and business man, engaged in various kinds of Merchandising, Forwarding, Manufacturing, Agencies, Banking, and as Consulting and Adjusting Accountant.

The qualifications thus acquired (the only ones which can make a competent business instructor), he brought with him into his present work, which he has followed for eight years.

He was Principal of the Aurora Commercial College, Aurora, Ill., from 1873 to 1875, and he has owned and conducted this Institution since 1876. Under his management it has steadily grown, showing for the year ending June 1880, an increase of 100 per cent. over any previous year, and for June 1881, an increase of about 35 per cent. over the year 1880.

Surely the Garden City Commercial College is the place to educate and equip for the "Business of Life." We ask you to investigate.

GENERAL INFORMATION.

The year begins the first Monday after the Fourth of July, and continues for forty-six weeks.

Students may enter at any time. There are no classes in bookkeeping, so that each student advances as rapidly as his habits of study, abilities and diligence will permit. A common English education is all that is necessary to enter. Any deficiencies can be made up by a few weeks or months in the Common English Department. All balances on tuition must be settled before examination. Abatement in tuition will be made to those who have previously pursued the Course, in proportion to the progress made. The tuition for the full Business Course will not be less than that specified herein. Special inquiry is made into the prospective business of each pupil, and special care is taken to make each thoroughly familiar with that branch which is to be put to immediate use.

Ladies share with Gentlemen the full advantages of every department of the College. Strict decorum will be maintained, and punctuality required. Record forwarded to parents if desired.

Our Halls are open at all times to visitors, and we cordially invite all friends of education to call upon us. There is no other method of investigation so satisfactory as a personal interview.

Boarding can be obtained for eighteen dollars per month and upward. Students from abroad will be assisted in getting boarding places upon request.

Day sessions from 9 to 12 A. M. and from 1 to 4 P. M. throughout the year. Evening sessions, 7 to 9 P. M., from first of October to first of April. No parts of months allowed except in case of protracted illness.

For further information concerning Courses of Study, terms, etc., call at the College, or address the Principal.

Hotel del Monte, Monterey, Cal.

The Most Delightful WATERING PLACE, and Handsomest SEA-SIDE HOTEL
ON THE PACIFIC COAST.

J. SAVIDAN, LIVERY STABLE, 212 SANTA CLARA STREET.

Flesh, Hair, Tooth and Nail Brushes, all Styles at RHODES' FAMILY DRUG STORE
Knox Block, Santa Clara Street.

Bathing Houses, Character of the Beach, etc.

The beach is about half a mile from the hotel, and is the most perfect bathing beach upon the Pacific coast. The bathing-house is a model of beauty and perfection.

Mr. W. H. Daily, the champion swimmer of the Pacific coast, and who has made himself well acquainted with the character of several of the most noted beaches from San Francisco to Santa Monica, says, in a letter dated Monterey, December 15, 1879: "I have made a careful examination of the beach at this place, as to its fitness for purposes of bathing. I find it an easy sloping beach, of fine sand; no gravel, no stones anywhere below high water mark. I waded and swam up the beach a quarter of a mile, that is, toward the east, and also westward toward the warehouse, and found a smooth sandy bottom all the way; no rocks, no sea weed, and no undertow. The whiteness of the sand makes the water beautifully clear. I consider the beach here the finest on the Pacific coast. I was in the water an hour yesterday, and found it, even at this time of the year, none too cold for enjoyable bathing."

The Climate and Healthfulness of Monterey.

The weather at Monterey is not so warm either in summer or winter as in other parts of California further south, but there is an even temperature that can be found nowhere else. From January to December, year in and year out, there is no summer nor winter weather. Indeed, the weather at Monterey, from one year's end to another, partakes of that delightful interlude known in the East and South as "Indian Summer." The same balmy zephyrs breathe a delicious atmosphere all the year round, and summer and winter, so-called, serenely face each other and exchange compliments. The following carefully prepared table presents the mean temperature of Monterey and many other health resorts and places throughout the world.

Comparative Table of Temperature.

It will be seen by the above table that Monterey has only one rival, (Honolulu) in equability of temperature. It must be understood, however, that there is a good deal of hot, disagreeable weather on the Islands, and a multiplicity of drawbacks which Monterey does not possess. There are seldom any high, cold winds at and around Monterey, and never any hot ones.

Manufacturer and Exclusive Owner in Santa Clara County, of

[Patented August 30, 1881]

PATENT CART!

Among the many Pacific Coast inventions, none have received more attention or become more popular in so short a time than the Cart recently invented and patented by D. W. C. Putnam, of Petaluma.

Although it was originally designed and made for a Breaking Cart, it almost immediately found favor as a general business vehicle for all purposes where a light rig was wanted for driving, etc.

For farm purposes and for children attending school at a distance, and indeed for almost any and all purposes where Cheapness, Convenience and Durability are concerned, this vehicle CAN NOT BE SURPASSED! It is light, weighing 125 to 200 lbs., it is easy on the horse, and with the patent foot-board very easy riding, taking the place of the buggy and saddle horse, while the price is so low as to place it within the reach of all.

 The above cut represents the latest improvement by which the Cart admits access to the seat from the rear, thus avoiding the inconvenience of climbing over the seat. The vehicle has to be seen to be appreciated.

THE SCHOOL.

The course of study is three years. There is a preparatory class for those who need to review the elementary studies before entering. A Training School of about eighty pupils exemplifies the work of the school, and affords opportunity for practice-teaching.

THE BUILDING.

The building is a plain, substantial, brick structure, with ample accommodations for 600 pupils. It is well lighted, heated, and ventilated, and is in most respects a model building. The grounds have recently been improved, and the Normal School, with its surroundings, constitutes one of the peculiar attractions of San Jose.
